Armyman stabs his colleague for 'raping' wife

MAHENDER SINGH MANRAL
NEW DELHI, AUGUST 21

CHAOS PREVAILED inside one of the barracks at Delhi Cantonment on Sunday night when an Army personnel, carrying a sharp-edged weapon, allegedly tried to kill a colleague accused of raping his wife, police said. The drama ended after 30 minutes, with the man stabbing his colleague thrice with a khukri, before being caught by his other colleagues.

Both he and his colleague were arrested, the latter on charges of rape. Confirming the incident, DCP (southwest district) Devendra Arya said they have registered two separate FIRs and have arrested both persons. Police said the alleged rape took place on Sunday afternoon, when the 25-year-old accused had first gone with the woman's husband to the market. The woman's husband asked him to drop off some food at his home before heading to the barracks. "At the home, he allegedly confined the woman's two children and raped her," a senior officer said.

The woman informed her husband about the incident when he returned, and he immediately informed his seniors. "He then took a khukri and headed to the colleague's barracks. He chased the man and stabbed him thrice. Others eventually managed to restrain him," the officer said.

Police said the first FIR under IPC section 376 (rape) was registered on the woman's complaint and the accused was arrested, while the second FIR was lodged under IPC section 326 (voluntary causing grievous hurt by dangerous weapon), the woman's husband was arrested. Senior officers of the Army have initiated an internal departmental enquiry against both men, police said.

DM: No animal sacrifice in public spaces

Noida: Ahead of Bakrid, the District Magistrate of Gautam Budh Nagar has laid out a set of instructions, particularly emphasising on regulations regarding the sacrifice of animals, to prevent "communally inflammatory" incidents. He has also specifically directed that no "large animals" be sacrificed during the occasion.

According to the directions, the sacrifice of animals should not take place anywhere other than places which have been designated for the purpose in advance, and the sacrifice of animals in public places is strictly prohibited, with the threat of strict action in case of a violation. The directions also seek to avoid conflict over stray carcasses, instructing that the remains of the sacrificed animals not be disposed in any river, pond, drain or open spaces. SP City Arun Singh Kumar said that the sacrifices may be performed in traditional spaces and "absolutely not in public places." ENS

Two working at Royal Enfield, Google dead as bike crashes into barrier on Golf Course Road

SAKSHIDAYAL
GURGAON, AUGUST 21

A 30-YEAR-OLD marketing executive with Royal Enfield and a woman working with Google in Gurgaon died late Monday night after the motorcycle they were riding collided with a jersey barrier on Golf Course Road.

According to police, the incident took place around 1 am on the intervening night of Monday and Tuesday. The two were at Genpact Junction, on the side of the carriageway used by vehicles travelling towards Sector 56.

The dead have been identified as Kevin Martin, who hailed from Mumbai and was working as a marketing executive at Royal Enfield's head office in Gurgaon's Sector 32; and Anvita Kant, a 27-year-old engineer who hailed from Faridabad and had joined Google about a month ago.

While Kant was residing in a PG accommodation in DLF5, Martin was staying in New Delhi, said police.

ACCIDENT-PRONE ZONES

May 6, 5 am, inside Sikanderpur underpass: A Swift Dzire collided with Scorpio, travelling in the wrong direction. Two people inside the Dzire were killed, while a third was injured

February 4, 1 pm, opposite Vipul Belmonte condominium: One person was killed, one injured after being mowed down while trying to cross Golf Course road

December 27, 2017, 8.30 pm, near Sikanderpur underpass: A 21-year-old man was killed near the underpass when a speeding Corolla hit his bike

May 19, 7.30 am, inside Genpact underpass: Uber cab hit a tractor inside underpass, rammed into divider. Driver claimed he fell asleep on wheel

"The two were travelling on Golf Course road, with Martin driving the Bullet motorcycle and Kant riding pillion. The bike collided with a jersey barrier near the Genpact underpass," said Subhash Boken, PRO of Gurgaon police.

"The front of the vehicle was completely shattered, indicating that they were probably travelling at a high speed. We suspect Martin lost control of the vehicle," he said.

The mangled remains of the motorcycle on which the two were travelling.

Police said Kant was thrown off the vehicle and landed around 50 meters away, while Martin was dragged with the motorcycle for around 25 meters.

"Although the woman does not seem to have been wearing a helmet, the driver was definately wearing one. However, both died on the spot. The two were rushed to Paras Hospital in Gurgaon, where they were declared brought dead," said assistant sub-inspector Sanjeev, the investigating officer.

"No FIR has been registered so far since there has not been any indication of foul play, but we are conducting further investigations."

Risky stretch
The seven-kilometre long Golf Course road stretch, police say, is witness to perpetual speeding. This has been a bigger problem over the last two years, with three underpasses along the six-lane stretch opening their lanes to commuters, and leading to the stretch from Cyber City to AIT Chowk becoming signal-free.

"We are doing everything on our part. Checkpoints are set up in multiple parts of the city, manned by traffic police officers and personnel from police stations. Only yesterday, we set up checkpoints during the day on Golf Course Road and Golf Course Extension Road," said Hitesh Yadav, ACP (Traffic). "But there will always be some gap between two checkpoints," he said, adding that the responsibility then falls on motorists to obey the prescribed speed limit.

Another officer said that "at certain high-speed stretches, it is difficult for us also to deploy personnel throughout because we have to watch out for their safety as well".
